

In the country of eccentricity.

There is no way you can escape shopping temptation in London, so why not try Camden Town ?

Camden Town is the place to be if you're fond of alternative cultures such as punk or gothic styles. Piercings, skin heads, leather trousers, nails and chains are omnipresent!

If your want to bring some vintage treasures back home, the concentration of secondhand clothes is incredible!

After a street of shops in the multicoloured facades decorated with symbols of the punk or Gothic culture, you can go into Camden Lock and its maze of coloured displays, while smelling the scents of food from all over the world.

In this must-visit street market you can find the most fashionable, funny and eccentric clothes in the capital, from Dr Martens shoes to a futurist outfit in Stables Market.

You get lost there, and you do not really want to get out.

After all your purchases, a short walk along the edge of the water is a must ... you can discover paintings by Banksy, the world famous street artist. Even if some of them were covered then erased, there are still some remaining Camden Town.... you can't talk about it, you have to visit it. Not to be missed!!!
